drawing on a series of recently conducted classroom workshops and live interviews with the authors this inspiring book examines five popular children's authors: Philip Pullman, J.K. Rowling, Michael Morpurgo, Anthony Browne, and Jacqueline Wilson, and the genre of comic books. Four genres are explored in detail: the picture book, written narrative, film narrative, and comic books. Teaching Children's Literature provides detailed literary knowledge about the chosen authors and genres alongside clear structured guidelines and creative ideas to help teachers, student teachers, and classroom assistants make some immensely popular children's books come alive in the classroom. This accessible and inspiring text for teachers, parents, student teachers, and students of children's literature includes a variety of discussion, drama, writing, and drawing activities with ideas for social and emotional aspects of learning which can be used to plan a unit of work or series of interrelated lessons for pupils aged between seven and fourteen years. It provides detailed literary knowledge about the authors, their works, language, plot, and characterisation, including exclusive transcripts of interviews with three contemporary children's book authors. It shows teachers how pupils can be encouraged to become more critical and knowledgeable about screen, picture, and comic narratives, as well as written narratives. It demonstrates how reading stories can help connect pupils and teachers to a broader pedagogy in ways which promote deeper thinking, learning, and engagement. This lively, informative, and practical book will enable teachers, students, and classroom assistants to plan inspiring and enjoyable lessons which will encourage them to teach children's literature in an entirely different and inventive way.

Reading Horizons began in 1960 by Dorothy J. McGinnis as a local reading education newsletter and developed into an international journal serving reading educators and researchers. Major colleges, universities, and individuals subscribe to Reading Horizons across the United States, Canada, and a host of other countries. Dedicated to adding to the growing body of knowledge in literacy, the quarterly journal welcomes new and current research, theoretical essays, opinion pieces, policy studies, and best literacy practices. As a peer-reviewed publication, Reading Horizons endeavors to bring school professionals, literacy researchers, teacher educators, parents, and community leaders together in a collaborative community to widen literacy and language arts horizons.
